Disease reduction

1. Increased elimination
2. Better control of hazardous substances
3. Improved commitment to control hazardous substances
4. Better targeting of enforcement
5. Better engagement with suppliers and/or suppliers of alternatives
6. Better understanding of how to modify processes to reduce exposure
7. Better investment in developing targeted, ‘user-centred’ good practice advice
8. Improved occupational health management skills and vocational education/training
9. Better understanding of business benefits from stopping ill health
10. Better awareness of good practice advice and need to maintain control
11. Increased awareness of dangers from hazardous substances
12. Better knowledge of alternatives
13. Better engagement with occupational hygiene professionals and engineers
14. Better knowledge of design and acceptability of good practice advice
15. Better investment in training in occupational hygiene and health
16. Improved application of psycho-social aspects in communication of messages
17. Better understanding of behavioural barriers
18. Increased use of influencers
19. Better engagement with key influencers
20. Better knowledge of key influencing systems/influencers