

Corporate publications

SBTAF 17 April

Shelagh Molloy

corporate publications reviewed

- annual reports
- newsletters
- statistics
- explanatory publications
- implementation publications

attitudes to health and safety

- paperwork – lots of work, not intuitive, bureaucratic, daunting – no intrinsic benefit implementation – i.e.. keeping employees safe and healthy – much more palatable, generally common sense, relatively easy and not too time consuming – but wide variations in level of engagement with h&s

'explanatory' publications reviewed

- Health and Safety System in GB
 - Reducing Risks, Protecting People
 - Enforcement Policy Statement
 - What to expect when an inspector calls
 - What to expect when a WCO calls
 - Working with employers
 - Health & Safety regulation: a short guide
 - HSE and You (2000)
 - Policy Statement on Open Government

'implementation' publications reviewed

- Introduction to Health and Safety
Need help on health and safety?
Managing health and safety: 5 Steps to Success
Your Health, Your Safety – guide for workers
5 Steps to Risk Assessment
Health and Safety Law Poster which risks to cover?

Lifting and handling, Stress, Slips, trips and falls, Workplace Transport, Falls from height, DSE, Noise, Vibration, Hazardous substances, Asbestos, Electricity, Work equipment/machinery, Maintenance and building work, Fire/explosion, First aid and accident reporting

Layouts need revisiting distribution

- starter pack / priced packs
- HSAO / Inspector visits
- HSE books

- can you help?

H&S: Advice for employees

generally well received